An Exposition Of The Wonderful Results

Nemo Week for 1911 is an event of vast importance to millions of women, for it marks the completion of the most remarkable line of corsets ever produced—the new Nemo Lastikops Corset System. Since our "Innovation Sale," in January, we have made constant additions to this System, and now show a complete variety of models for women of EVERY FIGURE, from very SLENDER to EXTRA-STOUT.

These Are THE MOST PERFECT CORSETS THE GREATEST CORSET-VALUES Ever Offered

Nemo Corsets have always been in a class alone, and now the marvelous results attained by the use of our semi-elastic Lastikops Webbing place Nemos so far above and beyond all ordinary corsets that competition has been actually eliminated.

All Imitations of Nemos Are Worthless

All attempted imitations of Nemo Corsets have failed, because the special Nemo functions are performed by our own patented inventions and cannot possibly be performed without them. Nemo imitations can be sold ONLY to women who MISTAKE them for the GENUINE Nemo.

COMPLETE NEW SYSTEM

Nemo

LASTIKOPS CORSETS

Don't Be Deceived!

For several years, certain unscrupulous manufacturers have been trying to introduce imitations of the Nemo Corset, at the same prices as ours, and under names which sound like "Nemo Self-Reducing"—but which are dissimilar in every other respect, and have no relation whatever to our patented hygienic features. These attempts have UTTERLY FAILED. The public has refused to be humbugged.

Some of these imitators have been forced to the expedient of CHEAPENING THEIR CORSETS as well as their prices. You can now buy the cheap imitations of the Nemo Self-Reducing Corset, with which the market is flooded, at almost any price.

We WARN THE PUBLIC not to be deceived by any similar-sounding name nor by self-evident adaptations of our trademark, prices, methods and advertising. Avoid these carefully-prepared traps, and do not be led to believe that you can buy, at a cut price, either the genuine Nemo Corset or the value it represents.

Produced by the Use Of Lastikops Webbing

LASTIKOPS WEBBING is the ONLY elastic fabric ever made that DOES NOT LOSE ITS ELASTICITY. We guarantee it to wear as long as the corset. It is our own patented invention, used ONLY in Nemo Corsets. It enables us to assure you greater figure-reduction than can be produced by any other corsets—and this with a delightful sense of comfort and complete hygienic safety.

Nemos Outwear All Other Corsets Because They Represent Twice as Much Actual Value in Material and Making—and You Pay Nothing Extra for the Nemo Special Features and Service.

Now is the time to study the Nemo Corset Specialties and COMPARE them with all ordinary corsets. This is a duty which every woman owes to herself, for the CORSET has become the most important article in women's attire, and COMPARISON will quickly show that there's NO SUBSTITUTE for the Nemo—none that can give Nemo service.

Nemo Corsets Are Sold Everywhere

Go to your favorite dealer this week, and be carefully fitted in the Nemo that suits your figure. But be SURE that it's a NEMO!

THE SOCIAL ROW AT THE NAVAL ACADEMY

BY FOXCROFT DAVIS.

What is democracy, anyhow, and how many persons in this country, especially Senator Kern and Representative Korbly, of Indiana; Representative Padgett, of Tennessee; Representative Macon, of Arkansas; Representative Gregg, of Texas, and Representative Hobson, of Alabama, know about it?

Democracy means that any individual or group of individuals shall be free to do anything which does not infringe the rights and liberties of others.

The facts in the Naval Academy case, which is now filling the newspapers, are as follows:

A young woman, the daughter of Professor Beers, of Yale University, was employed as a nurse and a companion in an officer's family at the Naval Academy at Annapolis. This young woman was invited to the balls organized by the midshipmen. An intimation was given the midshipman who invited Miss Beers that nurses, companions, stenographers, etc., were not to be invited to the Naval Academy balls in the future. This, of course, excluded Miss Beers. When the facts became known, Senator Kern, of Indiana, late candidate for the vice-presidency on the Democratic ticket, and Representatives Korbly, Padgett, Macon, Gregg, and Hobson, with time and to spare from the heavy duties to which they were elected, and having strange ideas of democracy, at once rushed before the footlights and proclaimed themselves champions of tyranny, ridiculous mediocrities, and enemies of honest labor. Of course, these well-meaning men did not intend to attack either liberty or labor, nor did they mean to raise the insignificant question of "society" to a place which it does not occupy in the esteem of well-balanced persons; but they got there just the same by demanding that the embargo against nurses, companions, stenographers, etc., at the Naval Academy balls be raised and demanding an investigation.

In the first place, the midshipmen themselves pay out of their own pockets all of the expenses entailed by these balls, the government merely allowing for the use of a hall and the services of a band, which would not otherwise be employed. Therefore, these midshipmen are entitled to invite or to exclude anybody they like from their own balls.

An attempt at interference on the part of Senators and Representatives is as impertinent as if midshipmen should demand an investigation into the lists of guests invited to the houses of Senators and Representatives who are just as much, and more, governmental officials as the midshipmen are. If, therefore, an official investigation is made into the matter of the midshipmen's balls, it would be only just and tiven to subject these Senators and Representatives whenever these Senators and Representatives choose to entertain. In this country there are no privileged classes, and if a meddlesome Senator or Representative insists, to use their own phraseology, "There shall be no social status at the Naval Academy," the midshipmen may boldly proclaim that there shall be "no social status" for Senators and Representatives, and they have the same power to enforce this grotesque demand. If these congressional meddlers can regulate an invitation list of the Naval Academy, they can do the same by the White House, and the country may shortly expect a stern demand made to President Taft, "Why are nurses and companions excluded from state dinners at the White House?" There is practically no limit to this sort of thing, and the subject is so large that the wheels of legislation at Washington will have to stop, while Senators and Representatives are investigating who's who. Never in the history of this country has "society" been elevated to the importance which Senator Kern and Representatives Korbly, Padgett, Macon,

Gregg and Hobson ascribe to it. "Society" means an aggregation of persons who have money and leisure, and whose pursuit is chiefly pleasure. There is nothing inherently wicked in the idea, although Senator Kern and Representatives Korbly, Padgett, Macon, Gregg and Hobson seem to think so. It is in itself an agreeable thing, an ornamental life which ought not, for the good of the state, to include too many persons. The passport to it is not merit; some of the most meritorious men and women who ever lived have no qualifications for it, and in general rate it at its true value, which is not very great. When women earn their own livelihood, they naturally have aspirations toward what may be called "society," for two excellent reasons. One is, that to go into "society" requires money; the other is, that "society" is an exhausting pursuit, and they would have none for their work. This does not mean that they give up social pleasures; it only means that they give up the pleasures of "society" because these pleasures are not compatible with conscientious work. More over, self-respecting women are disinclined to accept social pleasures which they cannot return, and to constitute themselves a body of deadbeats.

If Senator Kern and Representatives Korbly, Padgett, Macon, Gregg and Hobson succeed in their endeavor to have every trained nurse, stenographer and companion in Annapolis invited to the Naval Academy balls, the demoralization among the trained nurses, stenographers and companions of Annapolis will be complete. With their nights spent in dancing and their hard-earned money squandered in ball gowns, gloves, slippers, cabs, and all the paraphernalia which balls require, and the days passed in sleeping off the effects of these balls, we betide the unfortunate patients and employers of these trained nurses, stenographers and companions! Luckily, this highly esteemed class of workers among women, have much sadder and sadder ideas on the subject of "society" than the Senators and Representatives who are trying to force them where they do not wish to go. Also, they have not the exalted idea of "society" which these Senators and Representatives think of such tremendous importance. They regard it as it truly is—an association of persons who have taste and time and money to spare. The nurses, stenographers and companions are not half as much crushed and humiliated, because they are not in "society," as these Senators and Representatives think. As a matter of fact, they are, in general, perfectly indifferent to it, and recognize a much higher idea of social life, which means an exchange of companionship and courtesies within their means, within their time, and not requiring them to work all night as well as all day, for "society" means hard work both night and day.

However, there is a silver lining to every cloud. If Senator Kern and Representatives Korbly, Padgett, Macon, Gregg and Hobson had expended the same amount of folly on Federal legislation as they have on Miss Beers, it would have been a good deal worse for the country. It has been said that, under the Constitution of the United States, every citizen has a right to make a blanket-blank-blank fool of himself. Some people abuse this privilege.

Country Life in the City

BY ADA PATTERSON.

"The city has done for him," said a man of an acquaintance who had passed and been carried on in one of the cross currents of humanity that eddy me-in-late-already manner we associate with the city, but they are not inseparable from it. To avoid them and the harassed mind of which they are the signs, lead the country life in the city. It is not easy, but it can be done.

Living the country life in the city means regular sleep and enough of it. A man who is at the head of a successful enterprise in this city, and who looks stronger at fifty than do most city dwellers at thirty, told me that he required nine hours' sleep, and he took it. He said he would not take one hour's sleep, but he would not take one passenger train behind an engine with an empty boiler as to attempt to do a day's work at his desk without having had all the sleep he needed.

When I see an emergency with a special demand on my strength and time coming I prepare for it," he said. "By sleeping ahead, I take several extra hours' sleep, then adding one or two hours to my usual amount of sleep at night, or I force myself to take a nap of a quarter or half hour during the day. Then when the emergency comes I am supplied with extra fuel for the run of brains and strength."

This man told me that when, as often happens, he has to measure strength in a battle of brains he "sizes up his man." If the man has the tired eyes, the flaccid muscles, the pale, spotted skin of the exhausted, the man who sleeps nine hours feels that his triumph is already won.

"Don't despise fools," he quotes. "They are out. The man who endures there is no greater fool than one who lets the siren of city life sap his vitality."

It is hard to turn your back upon the light hearted party that begs you to join its supper after the theatre, but it is not so hard as facing the problems of a busy life, with a sure head and tired brain the next morning.

To live the country life in the city means eating regular meals and simple ones. Roast beef seems a bit plebeian compared with terrapin, and a plain luncheon at twelve-thirty prosaically compared with the bisques and souffles ordered by the designated hostess.

If you will postpone the plain luncheon for two hours, but it is better for the brain, better for the brawn, better for the man or woman who consumes it.

Country life in the city includes courting fresh air and sunshine as persistently as a smitten youth who is the girl of his heart. The man who endures in the city is he who walks to and from his office, who spends Sundays out of doors, who searches the city for its sunny corners and pays extra rent to secure one of them, saving on cigars and car fare for the difference, and who, when his vacation arrives, spends it in the woods, the mountains, loafing on a lake or river boat or peeling his nose and steeping his soul in content on their banks, casting fly for the fish

Are You Fat?

You know you cannot stay fat, don't you? That is, you cannot be fat and be in style. The day when a fat woman was tolerated is passed. Nowadays all women must be in proportion or be ridiculous. This does not mean you should become skinny, however. You should not get below the hard flesh line. All you ought to lose is the bulky fat. That done you will find yourself to be a well formed and therefore handsome woman.

Now, how can this be done? By exercising and dieting? Yes, and no. These two means will bring some results, but not easily nor soon. One is very hard work; the other is torture. Besides, neither can be depended on to cause a uniform reduction. They may take off a fleshy shoulder, for example, and leave the double chin untouched. What you need, you see, is something pleasant to take that without injury to your health will take the fat off uniformly and quickly, say at the rate of a pound a day or so, until it is all gone where you want it to go.

For this purpose nothing is less expensive, safer or simpler than Marmola Prescription Tablets. Inexpensive because one large case, containing 26 cents only, will produce results; safe because they cause no wrinkles or stomach trouble, but rather improve the health and complexion, if anything; and simple, because they do all the work without asking thought or effort on the part of the taker. In short, they are the ANSWER if you are fat and wish to be thinner. If your druggist is of the better kind he will have them. If not, write the licensee, The Marmola Company, 1408 Farmer Bldg., Detroit, Mich.

The Method That is Guaranteed!

Do you know of another firm that has ever offered, as I do, to rid your home or building of all rats and mice BEFORE ASKING A PENNY?

Isn't that your strongest proof that I CAN free you of rats and mice, and guarantee freedom for one year?

My method is safe, sure and quick. My charges are but a small fraction of your present expense from rats.

Why not call me up to-day or write me for further information and prices?
